

National Records of Scotland
Guide to Information:
Covering the Responsibilities of the Keeper of the Records of Scotland and the Registrar General for Scotland

Last updated: June 2019

About National Records of Scotland

On 1 April 2011, the National Archives of Scotland (NAS) merged with General Register Office for Scotland (GROS) to become National Records of Scotland (NRS).

NRS is part of the devolved Scottish Administration and encompasses the non-ministerial offices of Keeper of the Records of Scotland (Keeper) and Registrar General for Scotland (Registrar General). The Keeper is responsible for selecting, preserving and making available the national archives of Scotland, is head of profession for Scottish archivists and records managers, and administers the Public Records (Scotland) Act 2011. He also advises other bodies on the care of archives, and maintains the National Register of Archives for Scotland, which keeps track of archives in private hands. In addition, he is also the Keeper of the Scottish Register of Tartans which registers new tartan designs. The Registrar General is responsible for the registration of births, marriages, civil partnerships, deaths, divorces, and adoptions. NRS also runs the Census on behalf of the Registrar General and uses Census and other data to publish information about population and households.

Publication Scheme

The Freedom of Information (Scotland) Act 2002 (the Act) requires Scottish public authorities to produce and maintain a publication scheme. Authorities are under a legal obligation to:

- publish the classes of information that they make routinely available
- tell the public how to access the information and whether information is available free of charge or on payment.

The Keeper and Registrar General have both adopted the Model Publication Scheme produced by the Scottish Information Commissioner. Further information about the Model Publication Scheme can be found on the Scottish Commissioner's website.

Guide to Information

NRS has produced a single Guide to Information under the Model Publication Scheme which covers the offices of both the Keeper and the Registrar General.

We will also advise you on how to ask for information that we do not publish or how to complain if you are dissatisfied with any aspect of this Guide to Information.

Availability and formats

The information we publish is, wherever possible, available on our website. We offer alternative arrangements for people who do not wish to, or cannot, access the information either online or by inspection at our premises. For example, we can usually arrange to send out information in paper copy on request (although there may be a charge for this).

Exempt information

We will publish the information we hold that falls within the classes of information below. If a document contains information that is exempt under Scotland's freedom of information laws (for example sensitive personal data or a trade secret), we will remove or redact the information before publication and explain why.

Copyright and Re-use

The material contained in the National Records of Scotland (NRS) web pages is covered by Crown Copyright unless otherwise indicated.

© Crown copyright, 2019 - You may use and re-use the information featured on our website (not including logos) free of charge in any format or medium, under the terms of the Open Government Licence.

Where any of the Crown copyright items on this site are being republished or copied to others, the source of the material must be identified and the copyright status acknowledged, e.g. '(C) Crown copyright. Data supplied by National Records of Scotland.'

Further information about copyright conditions can be found on our Copyright and Disclaimer page.

Further information about re-use conditions can be found on in our Re-use of Public Sector Information statement.

Charges

There is no charge to view information on the NRS website or at our premises, except where there is a statutory fee.

We may charge you for providing information to you e.g. photocopying, digital copies and postage, but we will charge you no more than it actually costs us to do so. We will always tell you what the cost is before providing the information to you. A list of our fees and charges in our Historical and Legal search rooms and the ScotlandsPeople Centre can be found on our website. An additional list can be found on our ScotlandsPeople Website.

Duration

We publish information that we hold within the following classes. Once information is published under a class we will continue to make it available for the current and previous two financial years.

Where information has been updated or superseded, only the current version will be available. If you would like to see previous version you may make a request to us for that information.
