Commentary

Boys' Names

After dropping to second place last year, Lewis has returned to number one, replacing Jack as the most popular boys' name for new babies. Jack falls to a very close second place whilst Ryan climbs one place to third. There are two new entrants to the top 20 - Finlay (up 8 places to 13th) and Aiden (up 8 places to 17th).

Christopher (up 11 places to 46th), Kai (up 9 places to 49th) and Jay (up 2 places to 50th) are new entrants in the top 50. Other names making significant advances in the top 50 include Ethan (up 10 places to 29th), Fraser (up 7 places to 38th) and Oliver (up 9 places to 40th). Lower down the top 100, Lucas (up 12 places to 52nd), Evan (up 13 places to 63rd), Alfie (up 21 places to 66th) and George (up 16 places to 80th) also make advances. New names reaching the top 100 include Jayden (up 83 places to 53rd), Zak (up 34 places to 73rd), Alex (up 36 places to 86th) and Caleb (up 38 to 89th). Mohammed (up 34 places to 91st) and Joe (up 10 places to 100th) have re-entered the top 100 after falling to 104th and 110th respectively last year.

There have been reductions in popularity for Scott (down 7 places to 34th), Sean (down 9 places to 42nd), Robert (down 7 places to 48th) and Robbie (down 19 places to 57th). Names dropping out of the top 100 are Brodie, Bailey, Corey, Hamish, Steven, Charles, Peter, Harvey and Patrick.

By early-December 2007, around 27,600 boys had been registered, with over 2,700 different first names being used. The top 50 names accounted for 49 per cent of the total. Over 1700 boys were given unique (for 2007) first names.

A full list of all first names registered in 2007 may be downloaded from our website.

Girls' Names

For the third year, Sophie is the most popular girls' name for new babies. Emma remains in second place whilst Lucy climbs to third. The top ten names are the same as last year with only minor changes to the rankings. There are five new entrants in the top twenty - Ava (up 14 places to 14th), Isla (up 7 places to 16th), Brooke (up 15 places to 17th), Niamh (up 5 places to 19th) and Eilidh (up 16 places to 20th).

Evie (up 18 places to 47th) and Jenna (up 12 places to 50th) are new entrants in the top 50 whilst Eva (up 8 places to 21st), Skye (up 11 places to 23rd), Ruby (up 19 places to 26th), Lily (up 14 places to 33rd), and Kayla (up 8 places to 41st) also make significant advances.

Amelia (up 40 places to 57th) and Abi (up 20 places to 61st) climb within the top 100 whilst Summer (up 75 places to 52nd), Sophia (up 66 places to 64th), Casey (up 60 places to 70th), Kaitlyn (up 32 places to 70th), Charley (up 44 places to 86th) and Rhianna (up 35 places to 98th) are among the new entrants. Natalie (up 13 places to 52nd), Elise (up 24 places to 83rd), Rachael (up 27 places to 88th) and Alice (up 26 places to 97th) also make significant advances after dropping out of the top 100 last year.

Fallers within the top 50 were Rachel (down 13 places to 29th) and Leah (down 17 places to 35th). Further down the top 100 Paige (down 11 places to 34th), Amber (down 14 places to 60th) Shannon (down 11 places to 63rd), Laura (down 13 places to 77th) and Rosie (down 11 places to 98th) were also less popular than last year.

Demi, Maisie, Cerys, Natasha, Alisha, Naomi, Charlie, Alexandra and Jodie have all dropped out of the top 100.

By early-December 2007, nearly 26,200 girls had been registered, with over 3,700 different names being used. The top 50 girls' names accounted for 44 per cent of the registrations, and nearly 2,400 girls in Scotland were given unique (for 2007) first names.

A full list of all first names registered in 2007 may be downloaded from our website.

Changing Trends in Naming Babies

For both boys and girls, the range of names used has been consistently widening over the last 100 years. Parents are increasingly selecting names which are different. The following table illustrates this trend.

Top ten names, as a percentage of all names, selected years, Scotland

	Boys	Girls
1900	68.4	58.1
1950	53.3	36.3
1975	32.6	20.2
2000	21.7	20.4
2007	17.8	15.9

Another aspect of the changing range of names is an increasing variation in spelling. The tables presented here count different spellings separately. If combined, Callum/Calum would be in third place and Aimee/Amy would be second.

Number of Forenames

Additional names

The number of forenames given in 2007 is summarised in the chart below. Eighty-three per cent of boys and seventy-six per cent of girls registered in 2007 have more than one forename.

The following table shows the relative popularity of second names:

Most popular second forenames, Scotland, 2007

Boys			Girls
Rank	Name	Count	Rank	Name	Count
1	James	2015	1	Elizabeth	1001
2	John	1469	2	Louise	956
3	William	1033	3	Jane	607
4	Alexander	839	4	Rose	535
5	David	834	5	Margaret	532
6	Thomas	693	6	Anne	502
7	Robert	665	7	Grace	429
8	Andrew	545	8	Mary	425
9	George	411	9	Ann	424
10	Michael	376	10	Catherine	387
11	Joseph	283	11	Marie	313
12	Scott	278	12	May	252
13	Peter	228	13	Jean	212
14	Daniel	206	14	Helen	195
15	Paul	205	15	Sarah	187
16	Patrick	199	16	Isabella	164
17	Alan	196	17	Leigh	124
18	Jack	191	18	Anna	120
19	Ian	189	19	Nicole	116
20	Stephen	178	20	Mae	111

It is clear that second names are more “traditional”, reflecting the names of previous generations in many cases. There are few changes in the lists of second names from year to year, with James and John, and Elizabeth and Louise being consistently popular. In 2007 the top ten second names for boys and girls are the same as last year with just a few minor changes in ranking.

Regional variations

Lewis was the top boys’ name in 14 council areas, whilst Jack was top in 9 areas. Sophie was the most popular girls’ name in 18 council areas, whilst Emma was top in 6 areas.

The top ten names in each Council area can be downloaded from our website.

Elsewhere in the UK

An analysis by the Office for National Statistics covering England and Wales has shown that Jack and Grace were the most popular names there in 2007. Further details can be found on the ONS website: www.statistics.gov.uk

The most popular names in Northern Ireland were Jack and Katie. Further details may be found at www.nisra.gov.uk

Notes

- All births have, by law, to be registered, and the records sent in by local registrars to the General Register Office for Scotland. This allows the production of tables showing the most popular first forenames, not just for a section of the population or those announced in a particular newspaper, but for all new babies born in Scotland.
- All of the information for 2007 contained in these tables is provisional. It is based on births registered up to early-December 2007. The information for 2006 contained in this paper is for the full year, and therefore varies from that contained in last year's paper.
- The rankings were based on the first forename recorded on the birth register.
- Different spellings, e.g. Stephen, Steven, were counted separately.
- Accents were ignored.
